

Fishing for Marbles

Do you have long toes? They may come in handy (or foot-y) while playing this game! The challenge involves plunging your feet into icy water and attempting to collect as many marbles as possible using only your toes.

Limbo

You have the option of using a long pole or a broom, or you can purchase a bamboo limbo pole online. Enhance the fun by playing Hawaiian tunes to make this game even more enjoyable!

Outdoor Pictionary

Create a chalkboard on the side of your garage or fence to host a large outdoor Pictionary game, which is like charades but involves drawing. Additionally, you can utilize the board to track scores for various yard games.

Slide and Toss

Slip and slides are enjoyable by themselves, but turning them into a game adds an extra level of fun! Slide down, stand up, spin around, and aim to pass a Frisbee through a target to score points for your team.

one BLOCK at a time!"*

Frozen T-Shirt Game

Soak several t-shirts in water, place them in plastic bags, and freeze them overnight. The following day, organize a race to see who can thaw and put on their frozen t-shirt the fastest.

Twister

You will only require a cardboard stencil, vibrant spray paint, and a DIY spinner for a summer filled with amusing surprises and excitement.

Potato Sack Race

Prepare a burlap sack or a large, sturdy pillowcase for each participant, ensuring it reaches their waist, then find ample space for them to hop towards the finish line. If sacks are not available, a three-legged race can be a fun and simple substitute.

Blanket Run

Choose a partner and grab a blanket. With one ready to race and the other ready to ride, pull your partner across the finish line as quickly as you can.

Create your own dunk tank! The warmer the day, the more volunteers you'll have lining up to take a dip.

Yard Yahtzee
